Ebenseer Glöckerlauf, inscribed 2010

The annual Glöckerlauf procession takes place on 5 January and is characterised by the typical white costumes of participants, the carrying and clanging of giant bells and the wearing of enormous candle-lit caps decorated with various designs and figures. In the last decades, interest in the Glöckerlauf parades throughout the Salzkammergut has increased as the tourism potential of this tradition has been recognised.

Salzkammergut Vogelfang, inscribed 2010

The tradition of bird-catching (Vogelfang) in the Salzkammergut involves the trapping of specific local wild birds in autumn, care of the birds in aviaries outside the catching season and exhibition of the wild birds on the Sunday before Kathrein (end of November). During the exhibition, the most beautiful birds are awarded prizes based on their rich colouring, integrity and flawless care condition. In the spring, all of the birds, except the lure birds, are released back into the wild.

Ebenseer Fetzenzug, inscribed 2011

The Ebenseer Fetzenzug is an annual carnival parade on Fasching-Monday in Ebensee. The participants, the so-called 'Fetzen', don well-worn women's clothing to which rags and tatters have been sewn. They also wear ragged hats as well as artistically carved wooden masks. An important element of the rag parade is the chiding and teasing of parade on-lookers.

Lichtbratlmontag in Bad Ischl, inscribed 2011

Every year on the Monday after Michaeli (29 Sept), Lichtbratlmontag is celebrated in Bad Ischl. This celebration stems from a custom where in the past, employers treated their workers to a 'Brat'l' or pork roast on the first autumn day when artificial light was needed for work. Today, the event revolves around celebrations for all those having decade birthdays that year. Starting at age 50, any native or permanent resident of Bad Ischl is invited to participate in the festivities.

Wirlinger Böllerschützen, inscribed 2011

The Wirling Traditional Rifle Club is presumably the only organisation in Austria that is authorised to conduct traditional Böller shootings. The Böllerschützen (Böller riflemen) accompany religious and secular festivals. The specially constructed Böller rifles are positioned on a rise and depending on the occasion, fired at precisely determined times. It is important to wait for the echo of the Böller, which can last up to 12 seconds, before firing the next round.

Aberseer Schleuniger, inscribed 2014

The 'Schleunige' - also called 'Schleinige' in old texts - is a form of play and dance exclusively found in the Salzkammergut. A special regional variation of the Schleunige can be found around Lake Wolfgang in Abersee, St. Wolfgang and St. Gilgen. With a duration of 10 to 12 minutes, the Aberseer Schleunige is a very long and complex dance.

Liebstattsonntag in Gmunden, inscribed 2014

Liebstattsonntag in Gmunden occurs every year on the fourth Sunday of Lent. Both Gmunden Tracht Associations along with the Goldhaube and Headscarf Group meet at nine o'clock to attend Mass in the city parish church. Afterwards, they form a festive procession and march to the city hall square accompanied by the local marching band. After a short welcome and explanation of the custom, association members present decorative gingerbread hearts to guests and the public.

Traunkirchner Mordsgschicht, inscribed 2014

The Traunkirchner Mordsgschicht is a musical performance in the style of street ballad singing. Although originally found throughout the Salzkammergut, today this tradition is only practised in Traunkirchen. On carnival Sunday (Faschingssonntag), the singers, dressed in tail coats and top hats, go from one tavern to another and tell humorous anecdotes about the village community from the past year. In return, the singers are treated to food and drink or receive monetary compensation for their efforts.

Assembly and Visitation of Landscape Nativities, inscribed 2015

The Salzkammergut landscape nativities are typical folk nativities which embed the biblical story of the birth of Christ into the local environment. Over time, simple nativities scenes developed into figure-rich landscape nativities which often fill an entire room. The annual assembly and visitation of the hundreds of landscape nativities in private homes during the Christmas season demonstrate the great importance of this tradition for the people of the Salzkammergut.

Ausseer Fasching, inscribed 2016

The Ausseer carnival takes place from Fasching Sunday to Fasching Tuesday. Three main figures play a significant role: Trommelweiber, Flinslerl and Pless. In addition, on all three days, so-called carnival letters are read aloud in various taverns and restaurants, whereby mishaps, village politics and local anecdotes from the previous year are lampooned in rhyme and song and illustrated with hand-drawn pictures.

Pigeon Shooting in Altaussee, inscribed 2016

Pigeon shooting was once widespread from the North Sea to South Tyrol. However, today it is only practised in Altaussee and Nußdorf am Inn (Bavaria). Each year, the members of the pigeon shooting club meet at the Schneiderwirt for traditional pigeon shooting starting the first Sunday after All Saint's Day until one week before Fasching Sunday - a social sport with at least three shooters and a wooden pigeon.

The Fuhr on Lake Hallstatt, inscribed 2020

The 'Fuhren' (flat transport boats made of wood, also called 'Plätten') have a long tradition on Lake Hallstatt as a means of transporting goods and people. In the 13th century, after the reopening of the salt mine in Hallstatt, shipping became necessary for transporting wares on the lake and Traun River. Today only a few individuals still master this particular craft.

Nikolospiel in Bad Mitterndorf, inscribed 2020

The Nikolo Play in Bad Mitterndorf is a parlour and parade performance that is performed annually on 5 December in various locations. The play originally took place in farmhouses and inns. Since 1959, the Nikolospiel has been presented to a wider audience in the main square of Mitterndorf. The play consists of various figures which form a procession between the performance locations.

Gmundner Keramik, inscribed 2021

The term 'flaming' is used to describe the unforgettable design of these ceramic pieces. As early as 1600, recurring decorative elements on ceramic had taken root all around Gmunden. Early discoveries of white-blue coloured ceramics from the region stem from this time period, and from these developed the typical decorative technique known today as the 'Flamed' or the 'Gmunden Tableware'. Today the 'Flame' ceramic makers continue to pass along their expertise, taking approximately two years for artisans to perfect their skills.
